BODY OF MURDERED MAN BUR-IED HERE

The body of Carey Carmichael. colored, who was shot and killed in Singer's Alley, in this city on the night of March 6, has been interred in the local colored cemetery, after having lain in an undertaking establishment since the day of the Coroner's inquest.

With the assistance of Postmaster J. Walter Payne and postmasters in the South, Coroner Rudolph Davis finally succeeded in locating Cramichael's mother, who had moved from her home in Georgia to Bethel. North Carolina. She was informed by wire of her son's fate, and in a letter to Coroner Davis, authorized him to have the body buried here, as she was unable to pay the expense of transportation to her home.

A short time before his death Carmichael took out a policy in a local insurance agency, the proceeds of which were used to defray the expenses of his burial here, the remainder being sent to his mother.
